Why This Resume Wins (The Audit)

Here is the "Answer Key" you can use when teaching students why this resume works.

1. Layer 1: Foundation (Visuals)

- The Win: Single column, clean font, clickable links in the header.
- The Nuance: The dates are right-aligned to create a clean "Time Axis."

2. Layer 2: Core Spec (Skills)

- The Win: Skills are grouped logically (Backend, Cloud, AI).
- The Nuance: Includes "2026 High-Signal" keywords: RAG, Vector DB, Docker, Terraform. It does not list Microsoft Word or Windows.

3. Layer 3: Impact (Metrics)

- The Win: Every bullet point has a number.
 - Volume: "5,000 requests/minute"
 - Efficiency: "Reduced load times from 3.2s to 0.8s"
 - Business Value: "Reducing manual support tickets by 30%"

4. Layer 4: Storyline (Identity)

- The Win: The Summary explicitly claims "Backend-Focused." The Experience supports this (Java Spring Boot, SQL Optimization). The Projects support this (Distributed Systems, Go).
- The Red Thread: There is no "Unity Game Dev" distraction. The narrative is consistent.

5. Layer 5: X-Factor (Agency)

- The Win: The "Distributed Task Scheduler" project.
- The Nuance: The bullet point explains the Architectural Choice: "Selected Raft Consensus Algorithm to... ensure system consistency." This proves they aren't just coding; they are engineering.
